B. Prepositional Phrases

One of the most common constructions in the English language is the prepositional phrase. Sometimes there are even two or three prepositional phrases used in the same sentence. (E.g., In 2015, she travelled to Chile.)

A basic prepositional phrase has three words: preposition, article, noun. This is the most common construction. Other words, such as adjectives, may be added. The article is not used in some phrases, and the noun may be replaced by a pronoun. Analyze the following examples:

preposition + article + noun

- in the closet
- over the chair
- to the bank
- from an admirer

preposition + noun

- to India
- near New York
- after lunch

preposition + pronoun

- toward me
- with them
