| Interviewer | Sir Guy, you have spent ( spend ) the last sixty years exploring the world. When did you first become ( you first become ) interested in travelling?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Sir Guy     | Well, I can tell you the exact day. I was ( be ) eleven years old and I was sitting ( sit ) in the school library and I was reading ( read ) a book about South Africa. Suddenly I saw ( see ) a picture of Lake Victoria and at that moment I decided ( decide ) to become an explorer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Interviewer | When did you first go ( you, first, go ) to Lake Victoria?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Sir Guy     | Well, after I had left ( leave ) school at the age of 15, I lived ( live ) with my uncle for two years. He was ( be ) an old man then, but he had been ( be ) a sailor all his life. He found ( find ) me a job on a ship and at the age of 17 I arrived ( arrive ) in Africa!                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Interviewer | You have travelled ( travel ) to the most interesting countries in the world. Have you ever had ( you, ever, have ) any frightening experiences?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Sir Guy     | Oh yes, lot's of them                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Interviewer | Which was ( be ) your most frightening?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Sir Guy     | Perhaps it was ( be ) one night in India in 1942. Something really frightening happened ( happen ). It was ( be ) about ten o'clock and I was ( be ) in bed. I had been hunting/was hunting ( hunt ) all day and so I felt/ was feeling ( feel ) very tired. I had just blown ( just blow ) out my candle when I felt ( feel ) something heavy sitting on my feet. When I lit ( light ) my candle, I could ( can ) hardly believe my eyes: a tiger was sitting ( sit ) on my bed! |
| Interviewer | My goodness! Is that story really true, Sir Guy?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Sir Guy     | How dare you ask me that! I have never told ( never tell ) a lie in my life.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
